

I can describe how the water cycle continuously moves water through the earth and atmosphere.

I can describe various processes through which water moves.

I can make observations to determine by which process water is moving.

I can make connections between personal observations and the water cycle.

I can predict how land features affect water flow.

I can draw conclusions about how humans impact the water cycle.