

Name _____

Science hour _____ English hour _____

Investigation Question: What organ system would need to be modified for a superhero/villain to possess their extra power?

Character Name: _____

Superhero OR Villain
(circle one)

Extra Power: _____

Organ system that I am responsible for researching: _____

Research questions...	Notes paraphrased & bulleted...	In-text citations...
What is the function of the organ system that you chose in a human? Why is this organ system important for a human to stay alive? What are the major organs that make up this organ system?
Where does the modification (extra power) exist in nature (what plant or animal)? What is the function of the organ system that you chose in this organism? How is this organism able to have this unique ability/power (what specific organ, tissue, or cell is unique)? What is the function/location of this unique organ, tissue, or cell?

Name _____

Science hour _____ English hour _____

How would the human organ system need to be modified in order for your hero/villain to have this extra power? -a specific organ? -a specific tissue? -a specific cell? Is there a specific location on or inside your hero/villain where this modification would need to take place?
What would be one advantage of your hero/villain possessing it's extra power? Explain why. What would be one disadvantage or drawback of your hero/villain possessing it's extra power? Explain why.		